Sixty Day Sentence For Attempted Theft

CARELESS DRIVING CHARGE BRINGS HEAVY FINE

Ernest Young of the Newmarket Military Training Camp was sentenced to six months hard labour by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe at the local police court this week, on a charge of attempting to steal a car, the property of Harry Bell of Newmarket.

"I saw this soldier sitting in Harry Bell's car at the rear of the drug store by the Bugle Band Hall on January 2nd," testified Robert Smith, Jr., of town. "The car had been backed down the lane before I got there and as soon as Paul Garrett went to find Mr. Bell, the soldier got out and went down by the arena."

"I saw this soldier sitting in Mr. Bell's car tinkering with the ignition and told him to get out of the car and went up to tell Mr. Bell," testified Paul Garrett. "He was gone when I got back."

"On January 2nd about 9.45 p.m. as the result of a call I went to the rear of Bell's Drug Store where I found Bell's car parked across the laneway between the Chainway Store and the Drug Store thirty to forty feet from where it is usually parked," testified Chief Constable James Sloss. "I examined the wiring on the ignition and found that the wires from the heater had been torn away from the switch and the switch was broken. The keys weren't in the car, but it would still start. I followed tracks down by the arena eastward to the railway tracks. They resembled tracks made by a soldier's boots and led south on the tracks and cut off towards the camp. I went to the military camp and questioned accused. At first he denied everything and later admitted it and said he was drunk. He wasn't drunk at the time I questioned him, which was an hour later."

Crown Attorney Mathew read a lengthy record against accused dating from 1918 to 1941, when he was convicted of attempting to break and enter the Newmarket C.N.R. station.

"You don't like to be out of jail, do you?" asked His Worship. "It is just a matter of two months since you have been out, and you want to be back in again."

"I have a clean sheet in the army," replied Young.

"What do you mean by a clean sheet? I sent you to jail for sixty

RED CROSS DANCE NETS $80 FOR WAR WORK

The Red Cross dance at the high school auditorium was a delightful event, and while the crowd was not as large as was expected, those who attended enjoyed the evening to the full.

Max Boag's orchestra provided a splendid program of dance tunes, the Rye waltz and the Barn dance being standouts. About $80 was realized for war work.

ENJOY LETTERS AS WELL AS BOXES FROM HOME

The following letters of appreciation have been received by St. Paul's Ladies' Aid from Newmarket boys on active service.

P-16471, Pte. Fred H. R. Lewis,

"A" Coy, Royal Canadian Regt.,

c/o Base Post Office Canada.

Dear Mrs. MacLeod:

I want to thank you and the ladies of St. Paul's Auxiliary very sincerely for the very swell and most unexpected parcel. I have been told all about the church from mother and I have a photo card of the church and also of the Post Office in Newmarket, but as yet I have not had the pleasure of seeing the town. I look forward to it very soon when our job is done over here and we are all back to good old home. At the present time we are all listening to the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada on the wireless, as an Englishman would say, (the radio). We all look forward to the folks' talk to the boys over here, also sports news and the rebroadcast of the hockey on Sunday afternoon.

The weather over here at the present time is cold and damp, of course England is noted for its weather; also the wee spot of tea four to six times a day. It's not too bad, but sometimes it gets awfully boring, and mail from home is the best restorer of all. It arrives quite regularly and is always looked forward to, and when it appears, on orders, that a convoy has been sunk, it sure makes us all want to get over to see "Jerry" immediately, but in two years we have not lost any more than three shipments, which shows that the old navy is on its toes.

I suppose now as it is my time to go on guard shift for two hours, I will close, with my sincere thanks to you and the ladies of the Auxiliary.

Wishing you one and all a very Merry Christmas and a bright and prosperous New Year. I am,

A grateful friend,

Fred Lewis.

B-84279, L/Cpl. H. P. Myers, 1st C.T.C.C., R.C.A.S.C., C.A. (Overseas).

Ladies:
It gives me great pleasure at this time to thank you one and all for the wonderful parcel you have so kindly sent to me. I can't express my thanks deeply enough, but I'm sure that you know how your parcels and gifts are received by us. Even so much as a note from anyone back home is a great help in brightening the boys up.

We are getting along fine over here and are more or less getting used to the ways of the English people. The only thing that I don't like about it is the weather. As most of you know, it is just the season for rain and wind and it gets very dull and miserable at times. However, we are gradually getting used to it.

As you know, we have had little or no air raids for the past few

Celebrate 65th Wedding Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. JOHN COLLINS
Newmarket, who quietly observed their 65th wedding anniversary on Saturday, January 10, 1942. While both enjoy good health, no "celebration" of this remarkable event was held.

They attended, however, an evening dinner held in their honour at the home of a son, that of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Collins, Newmarket. Also present on this occasion was their other son, Mr. Russell C. Collins of Leaside, recently of Orillia, together with the latter's wife and son, Gordon.

There are two other grandchildren, Miss Jean, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Collins, and Mr. Jack Pritchard, a son of their deceased daughter, Florence Gertrude.

Mr. and Mrs. John Collins are aged 87 and 85 respectively, and have resided at their present home on Park Avenue, Newmarket, for fifty-two years.

Mr. Collins was born at Sharon and Mrs. Collins (formerly Catharine Fox), at Markham. They have lived in Newmarket and vicinity all their lives.

After farming for about fifteen years, the couple moved into town. Mr. Collins comes of U.E. Loyalist stock. He always liked horses, "teamed" for a good many years in Newmarket, and was an employee of The Office Specialty Mfg. Co.

Both continue in active life. Mrs. Collins does considerable knitting and sewing. Mr. Collins takes his daily walks, and on Christmas Day, while in Toronto, attended the Maple Leaf - Boston hockey game.

Looking back to their marriage in 1877, they can see many changes in living conditions, and think the young people of to-day, whom they enjoy, ought to be congratulated on the many inventions achieved for their pleasure, education and civilization generally.

SCOUTS COLLECT 147,627 POUNDS OF SCRAP

Proceeds Used For Patriotic Purposes

Jan. 12, 1942.

Dr. L. W. Dales, Mayor of the Town of Newmarket, Newmarket, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

Re: National Salvage Campaign

At your request this Association undertook the collection of waste materials in April, 1941. At first considerable difficulty was experienced in obtaining a building in which to accumulate materials collected. Through the cooperation of Dixon Pencil Company, a building was provided and repaired. Several interested citizens volunteered their help in putting a new roof on the building, and through the co-operation of the town council a truck was made available after five o'clock and on Saturday afternoons for collection purposes.

From the beginning the work of collecting scrap materials has been carried on by the boys of the troop, with the exception of part time assistance in the warehouse, and the driver of the truck.

During the eight months from April 1 to November 30 the materials salvaged are as follows:

Newspapers, magazines, corrugated boxes and mixed papers, 110,677 pounds; string, 2,743 pounds; tires, tubes and waste rubber, 2,800 pounds; mixed rags, 3,360 pounds; scrap iron and steel, 26,194 pounds; copper, lead zinc and brass, 941 pounds; aluminum, 607 pounds; total 147,627 pounds.

This is an average of slightly more than nine tons per month. Proceeds from the sale of these materials are used for patriotic purposes. Donations have been made to Newmarket Red Cross, British War Victims Fund, B. P. Chins Up Fund, and Newmarket Veterans Association.

Many citizens of Newmarket, householders, merchants, and industrial establishments alike, by saving waste materials which previously were destroyed, are making these results possible. To you and Council, to all those citizens who have contributed materials, and others who have assisted in various ways, we express our sincere appreciation.

More Letters To Soldiers' Comforts

POUND OF BUTTER WORTH MANY DINNER INVITATIONS

Another heavy mail from Newmarket boys in England, expressing their thanks to the Veterans Soldiers' Comfort Fund. These treats are made possible by your donations.

Scotland, Dec. 5, 1941.

Dear Veterans,—

Once more I must thank you for the wonderful parcel which I have just received. This parcel contained butter, cheese, milk and tea bags, and I certainly appreciated it. You, who were over here before, certainly seem to know what to send, and your parcels seem to come always at the right moment.

Army rations on active service were never very much as no doubt most of you will remember, and being able to get something extra is certainly appreciated.

Not only from the practical standpoint of articles being received, but the fact that they are being sent with the best wishes from an organization such as yours increases their value a thousand fold, and I assure you gentlemen that these gifts are appreciated by all of us over here, and will not be forgotten. Once more thanking you, I remain,

Yours faithfully,

Sgt. Albert Lindenbaum.

Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941.

Newmarket Veterans:

Dear Alec,—

I received a Christmas parcel of 300 cigs. from you fellows yesterday. They sure were swell. I guess you boys know the difference between Canadian and Limey cigs. Things are fairly quiet here. We are in a new camp and it's just mud to our knees. We are about seven miles from town, so you see we don't get out much.

Well, boys, I better sign off as there is not much I can tell you about us.

Thanks a million for the smokes and Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year. Remember me to all the fellows in shop. So long for now.

Your friend,

Earl Cole.

I guess the Christmas and New Years wishes will be late, but they are still sincere.

Bye, boys, for now.

England, Dec. 7, 1941

Dear Alex,—

I received 300 Export cigarettes from you and I wish to thank you a little more than I could by merely sending the card.

We do appreciate your looking after us and we know you put up with the same and more than we have, last time. I was stationed near Brown and Art Doble for a while, but we have moved. We are fine here. I wish you all the best.

Yours,

G. T. Blencowe.

SECURE $300,000 IN BLOOD AT A COST OF $14,000

"Over $300,000 was donated last year in blood by 16,906 patriotic citizens, at a cost of only $14,000," Roy Sprouts, originator of the Toronto Blood Clinic, for the Red Cross told the Lions Club on Monday evening when he made a stirring appeal for more volunteers. Less than one percent of the blood was found useless, he declared, as compared with some sections of the States where 15, 25 and even 50 percent has to be rejected for the same reasons.

The speaker told his audience that 23,000 donations had been received since the clinic opened in January, 1940, and there has yet to be the first accident. From the time a donor arrives at the hospital until he is on his way again, it takes but 15 minutes, and donors can be handled at the rate of one a minute.

Pictures were then shown explaining the process from start to finish when the powdered blood is packed in hermetically sealed cans and shipped to all sections of the Empire's battlefronts on land and sea. This war many lives of sailors, soldiers and civilians have been and will be saved by blood transfusions, which Canadians have made available.

Following this picture the Lions saw several reels of our Australian cousins in action in Greece, Crete and at home. A visit to the Canadian National Exhibition reel in technicolor, showed more than a day's tramping around the big annual fair.

A lengthy letter written during the "blackout" in England by Lion Capt. Dr. Cock, was greatly enjoyed, and an airgraph letter wishing "Doc" the best of luck, signed by all the members present was mailed Tuesday morning.

Reports of committee for the White Elephant Sale at the end of the month, reporting progress and keen interest among the citizens, were given.

The meeting was in charge of past president Jim Law and Lion Andy Davis. Lion Alex Eves moved the vote of thanks to Mr. Sprout while Lion Frank Bowser moved the vote of thanks to Jack Steer of Toronto, who was responsible for the picture show.

LIONS SEEK SUPPORT OF ENTIRE COMMUNITY

The Lions' War Benefit Sale of white elephant articles promises to be the biggest "January Sale" in North York when the thousand and three articles of useful and ornamental gadgets and furnishings being gathered up by the Lions Club members will go under the hammer of our popular marathan auctioneer, Fred Smith, on Friday, January 30, at the Newmarket Town Hall.

The Lions are commencing a door to door canvass this weekend for donations of things that our citizens have no more use for which might be needed by others. This will help answer that question of what to do with those good high chairs, odd pieces of furniture, white elephant Christmas or wedding gifts, clothing, toys, buggies, buckskins, tools, hand leighs, etc.

We all have something we have hated to part with or throw out. Now the Lions will turn it into cash for their war work. Already this year they sent $200 to their national Lions fund for British Child's Bomb Victims, being administered by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth through the Waif and Strays Society. It takes $130 to provide for one child for a year.

Here are a few typical cases: Sally Smith, aged 3½, both parents killed in a raid, also her brother and sister.

One boy aged seven, under our care, has had his leg blown off, and another small baby has been very badly burned by an incendiary. These are but two of the 2,600 children under five whom we have taken.

We know every citizen appreciates the fact that our kiddies have so far been spared this fate, and will want to help the Lions in this good work.

EDITORIAL

TO THE FOUR HUNDRED

Do you think the Government is accomplishing everything possible in the prosecution of the war? We know you don't, and four hundred citizens met in Toronto recently to discuss the matter and arrived at the conclusions that are set forth in the advertisement on page six of this issue.

We agree that national selective service for the armed forces, industry and the farm is the ideal set-up, and we should have realized it from the offset if we hoped to bring a speedy termination to this conflict.

But when we talk of conscription of man power we must not lose sight of as equally as big a factor the immense wealth in dollars and cents in our banks, and in securities, bonds, mines and property held by a number who are past the age for serving their country in the army, industry or on the farm, or who have no sons to represent them in the front line. If the people of our country want selective service, (and we have no doubt they do), let the Government cancel the needless expense of organizing and advertising for the $600,000,000 war loan in February and raise this money selectively.

Only this week a Newmarket man received a cable from his son, "Wire $35 at once." Is it just that this father should have to be supporting this son who is willing to give his all at $1.40 a day while the men in our industry are making six to seven dollars a day? Is it fair that this boy should have to go without smokes or eats because he hasn't the purchasing power to secure them, while you and I sit at home and sip our cocktail, smoke our cigarettes and give ourselves of the best the land can produce? Yet this is what you are asking of youth when you talk selective service.

We believe that selective service is a good idea. We believe that wealth should be conscripted with youth. We contend that while we are all in the front line, that chap with the uniform is a little further front than the fellow making aeroplanes, and should be paid accordingly, while to-day it is the opposite. We are firmly convinced that the Government of Canada, after this war, will be a returned soldier's government, and we are as firmly convinced that they will see to it that means are found to employ the youth of to-morrow and not leave them in the bread lines for so many years as we have done to that group that we are now asking to sacrifice their all for us.

"PAY THE FRONT LINE SOLDIER TEN DOLLARS"

(An Editorial From the Alliston, Ont., Herald).

About four hundred mayors, reeves and others interested in recruiting from the small centres of Military District No. 2, which is the area governed by the district surrounding Toronto and extending north to James Bay, were the guests in Toronto on Friday and Saturday of Major-General C. F. Constantine, the officer commanding the district. It was a rally of those supporters and they were royally treated by the officers of the several branches of the army and shown a lot of what is being done to raise the strength of the various arms of the service to the needed strength.

Ostensibly the gathering was intended to be impressed with the efforts of those in authority and to return to their home towns imbued with a greater incentive to arouse those still eligible to a sense of duty and desire to join up.

The whole show was on a grand style and every minute of the time of the delegates was taken up seeing something or hearing someone.

The highlight of the whole affair came when Col. Sidney Lambert, padre of Christie Street Hospital, spoke at the banquet given at the King Edward Hotel on Friday evening.

The Crystal Ballroom was crowded with satisfied diners. The head table boasted an array of generals, brigadiers, colonels and other high ranking officers. The tables in the large room were sprinkled with red tailed staff officers and many society people.

Col. Lambert made one of the most inspiring speeches of his career. He said: "We have something to do with these lives of ours. It was simple to be a farmer or a preacher or a school teacher, but it was really something to be a soldier, a fighting soldier."

"We are having trouble," he said, "getting men for the army. They are not coming forward as we would like them to. I'll tell you how to get the men. The whole trouble with the business is that we are going about it upside down. We are paying the man who runs the least risk the most money. We should pay the soldier who fights $10.00 a day and the man that stays home the least. Then you would get your army."

We do not believe that Col. Lambert was in the least bit cynical when he quoted those words. We believe he was as sincere in that statement as in any address he has given, but we know that Ottawa will raise its hands in holy terror at the suggestion.

We do not think that General Constantine and his officers were one bit pleased at the statement. While the crowd from rural Ontario applauded and cheered the speaker to an echo, the general and all those with him at the table maintained a silence and the expression on their faces was one of concern-ation rather than pleasure and agreement. There was no vote of thanks or comment made and the function was ended as abruptly as though a bomb had been dropped in the room.

But they were no idle words that Col. Lambert spoke. It is a fact that this business of waging war works all to the benefit of those who take the least risk. It seems that the moment war is declared there is a scramble for the good jobs and big pay. These are not to be obtained by volunteering for active service. To get a good job and big pay one must stay at home and from actual experience we know that there is more jockeying and lobbying done in the army than in any other line of business in the world to-day.

Col. Lambert had the nerve to speak the truth and for that men in this war and in the last have been sidetracked or demoted.

True, we will not win the war by casting aspersions on those in authority. But we will lose the war if we do not get the men needed for the service and there is a reason why men are not coming forward.

It has been reported that the armed convoy that visited Alliston gained twelve recruits after a tour of the district that stretched within seventy miles of James Bay. If that is correct there was a wicked waste of public money. Something else must be done and there are two ways to do it.

Either the pay of the fighting man must be raised to make it worth his while giving up a $10.00 a day job or there must be universal conscription of the whole population, with wages and costs of living scaled to that allowed the men in service.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A couple who had lived together in peace and harmony for 40 years attributed their success to an agreement made early in life: whenever one of them started an argument the other walked out of the house until the anger of the other had cooled. The man was the perfect picture of health—as it seems he had spent much of his life outdoors.

ECHOES FROM THE SANCTUARY

(This column is dedicated to the task of bringing a little of the church to those who are shut-in. Its main content will be the pith or kernel of one or other of the sermons given on the previous Sunday).

(To the Shut-ins)

A systematic search through my library revealed that the matter or subject of "The Will of God" had been, to an amazing degree, left out of the pulpit for many years. It also became apparent that when the present, crushing weight of woe began to descend upon the human race, that this subject of God's Will began to creep back into sermons. Obviously, the reason for the change is that people wanted to KNOW.

Let me encourage every earnest soul with the assurance from God's Word, which never errs nor fails, that we CAN AND MAY KNOW THE WILL OF GOD.

Romans 12:2 tells us that we may "Prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect Will of God."

Eph. 5:17 tells us we may understand it.

St. John 7:17 gives us the key to the matter. It speaks thus: "If any man is willing to DO His Will, he shall KNOW..."

The point is obvious. God reveals His Will to those who are willing, and who intend, to perform it, and never otherwise.

But a striking question arises here—Do we really WANT to know God's Will. Actually, most of us do not. We are afraid it would change our whole course and manner of living. We are afraid it might demand too much of us. The revelation of God's Will would frighten some of us almost to death.

But if we truly WANT it, and seek it, God will reveal it, and give us grace to perform it. The ideal is, that we should have no set will of our own, but should be so merged into His Will that His Will and ours will be one.

"Do His Will as if it were thine, so that He may do thy will as if it were His."

HOW MAY WE FIND GOD'S WILL? When Saul of Tarsus, lying prostrate on the road to Damascus asked the question, "What wilt Thou have me to do, Lord?", the Master replied, "Go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do." Saul obeyed. His lost sight was restored. He preached at Damascus, and then at Jerusalem. Then he went to carry the "Good news" to the Gentiles. He tried to go east, but God put up a barrier. So he turned north, but God stopped him again. Then he turned west, and that was where God wanted him. He found God's Will IN ACTION as he went forward in service.

God will lead us from one duty to another. Did you ever row a boat, or run an out-board motor-boat? If so, you will know that when the boat is standing still, it is almost impossible to turn or steer it. But when it is moving quickly through the water, a dip of the oar, or a turn of the rudder sends the boat in the desired direction. Thus God can turn, steer or direct His servants when they are on the move, but not so easily when they are standing still.

God will lead us through His Book. But remember—ACTION—we must be reading it. He will speak to us as we pray. But again action! We must be praying. He will lead us through the advice of friends. But action is still the key-note; we must be seeking. Or He will show us His Will through daily circumstances and events, but only as we are working at the task He has given us for the present.

"I worship thee, sweet Will of God, And all thy ways adore; And every day I live, I seem to love thee more and more."

"All that God blesses is our good, And unblest good is ill; And all is right that seems most wrong, If it be His sweet Will."

NOTICE TO ALL SKIERS

For the past three years the Newmarket Ski Club has been striving to create a skiing place where only the best of hills, trails and runs would attract all interested in this grand out-of-door sport. For this they have leased Fred Smith's farm, just south of the town line on the 2nd of King. Here every type of skiing country can be found, from the open hills and fields to winding trails cut through the bush.

The club is anxious to create the spirit of skiing and to welcome all skiers to join the club and enjoy this grand sport. The fees are $2 for senior members, $1 for high school students and 50c for public school. Each Saturday and Sunday a truck leaves Geer & Byers, on Saturday at two o'clock, and on Sunday at 1.30 o'clock. A small fee of 15c for senior members, and 10c for children is charged for return fare to and from the club.

The club is trying to arrange to have an instructor every Saturday and Sunday to assist those learning to ski. Aubrey Marshall, Helen Rose, Vernon Thompson, Cliff Bell and Robert Brooks are in charge of membership. Don't delay—join now and enjoy your skiing at the Newmarket Ski Club.

SIXTY DAY SENTENCE FOR ATTEMPTED THEFT

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1.) days myself. You have been in the army less than nine months and have spent two months of that time in jail. However, as far as this affair is concerned I am inclined to think it was attempted theft rather than theft. I am going to reduce this charge to attempted theft."

"It is the first time I ever tried to steal a car in my life and I'm forty-one years old," continued Young.

"You were bound to come to it," said Magistrate Woodliffe. "You have a terrible record of theft from 1918 to '41."

Leslie Sedore of Holland Landing was convicted on a charge of careless driving and fined $20 and costs or twenty days in jail. In addition a recommendation was made that his license to drive be cancelled for a period of at least three months. A charge of dangerous driving was withdrawn.

On December 23rd, at 10.45 p.m., I was in the bedroom above the store right over the gasoline tank when I heard a crash," testified Elden Goodwin of Holland Landing. "I looked out of the window and saw a coupe go over the hill without any lights on. I went downstairs and found that the gasoline tank had been smashed, so sent for Constable Watt, who arrived ten or fifteen minutes later. We followed tracks up over the hill to Sedore's and found his car in the yard with red paint on the right front bumper. Constable Watt pounded on the door and couldn't get an answer and finally forced his way in. Leslie Sedore was in bed and supposed to be asleep. Watt asked if he knew anything about the accident and he said he didn't, but later admitted hitting the tank and would settle for the costs. It will cost about $73 to replace the tank."

"On investigation I found marks leading down the hill across the road to the tank, then saw marks to the south of the pump and up over the hill," testified Constable Watt. "I followed tracks to the residence of accused and found a '31 coupe sitting in the yard. At first Sedore didn't know anything about it and later admitted it when he came outside of the house. He had the smell of beer on his breath but was not intoxicated. He was able to talk and stand alright. He admitted having a few beers at the hotel at Bradford and had left his friend off at the top of the hill and was going down to the bottom of the hill to turn around. It had been raining that evening."

"I was going down the hill and was going to put on the brakes when the left brake took hold too fast and threw me into the pump," testified accused, who lives with his widowed mother and cuts wood for a living.

H. Townsley of East Gwillimbury, charged by Constable Watt with selling liquor, was remanded one week.

Hoyt Bayliffe of London, charged with leaving the scene of an accident and careless driving, was remanded one week.

Howard Lyons of Sutton West, charged by Con. W. R. Hill with dangerous driving and careless driving, was remanded one week.

Charges of careless driving and driving with license suspended against Lowell Widdifield of Cedar Valley were adjourned one week for judgment.

As Michael Forhan, a witness in the case, was unable to be present this week, he gave his evidence last Tuesday.

"I was a passenger in the car driven by accused on December 21 last," stated witness. "We had been to Aurora and were coming into Newmarket by Eagle Street about 4.30 Sunday morning. Our car stopped coming up Yonge Street and another car gave us a push. Our lights were so bad we were trying to follow this other car. The road was slippery. There was a blow out in the tires and it threw us off the road. I don't remember knocking off the telephone pole at all. I felt a jolt in the car and didn't know exactly what it was."

"I investigated this accident the following afternoon," testified Constable Watt. "The front of the car was all smashed in, the two front tires blown out, and a hydro pole knocked down. The car had finally stopped by hitting a tree. I questioned accused and he said he had had trouble coming up Yonge Street, had stopped south of the stop light and someone gave him a push. His lights were bad and he followed this car's tail light at between forty to forty-five miles an hour in order to generate more electricity and give him more light. He didn't mention a blow-out."

"I could feel my left tire pulling and didn't know exactly what it was," said accused. "I was pulling over the other way and the first thing I knew it was over on the other side of the road."

"You shouldn't have been driving this car without any lights, particularly at that speed," remarked His Worship.

Crown Attorney Mathews produced a certificate from the registrar of motor vehicles dated December 18, 1939, showing that accused was convicted in Toronto by Magistrate Browne of driving a car while intoxicated and sentenced to seven days imprisonment. On January 9, 1940, his license to drive was suspended for an indefinite period.

BOARD OF HEALTH

At the present time there are several cases of Scarlet Fever in town and parents are asked to keep a careful watch of any mild sickness their children may have. John may get up in the morning with a headache or a sick stomach and, because he may not feel like going to school, he is excused from going. He may have a slight fever or the little fever may pass unnoted and he may even develop a little fine red rash on his chest, which may pass unnoticed, and because he feels all right the next day, he is hustled off to school. The mother thinks he is not sick enough to call the doctor and never realizes how often such a condition may mark the course of a mild case of Scarlet Fever and, as a matter of fact, it is usual that one or more such cases that slip by unnoticed, are the forerunner of a real epidemic of the disease.

As so many houses in town now house two families, extreme care is required in the prevention of communicable diseases. A short time ago the following happened in town. The doctor was called to see a child in a family and very promptly called it Scarlet Fever and had the family quarantined and the house placarded according to the Regulations for the Prevention of Communicable Diseases. He then proceeded to find where this child had contracted Scarlet Fever and he found there was another family with two small girls living upstairs in the same house. On making enquiry from the mother of the children upstairs, he found they had been sick with a slight fever and a rash. They did not seem very sick and no doctor was called and the children were back at school in a few days. So it would look as though the disease which must have been Scarlet Fever had its commencement upstairs and was carried to the little girl downstairs.

As this is a very communicable disease, the house of the sick one is placarded and the child quarantined for 28 days. All children in the house are likewise quarantined for ten days.

Last summer there were about 500 school and pre-school children toxoided against Scarlet Fever and those who were fortunate in taking this course of treatments need have no fear in taking the disease, as the toxoiding is a pretty sure preventative.

As the disease is around again, all parents who have children not toxoided against Scarlet Fever are advised to take them to their family doctor and have them done without any delay. The course consists of five treatments at weekly intervals, and it is harmless and almost a sure preventative. The health of your children is more important than their education, and what right have you to expose your neighbor's children to something you might have prevented?

WARTIME WAGE CONTROL INSTRUCTIONS

The National War Labour Board has issued instructions to Canadian employers and employees in regard to the Wartime Wages and Cost of Living Bonus Order (P.C. 8253).

As detailed in the advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue, these instructions define what are national industries falling within the scope of the National War Labour Board at Ottawa, and those that come within the jurisdiction of provincial, or Regional War Labour Boards.

Since wage control, together with price control, have become integral parts of Canada's wartime design for living, the National War Labour Board has considered it necessary to demarcate, for the purposes of the administration of the Order, the respective jurisdictions of the National and Regional Boards.

In general, National employers are designated as those whose operations—such as transportation and public utilities, etc.—are inter-provincial in character, of those whose industrial activities—particularly mining and shipbuilding—are closely related to the national war effort as a whole. Regional employers are considered those in which the operations of the industry or business is definitely within provincial or municipal boundaries. In this category fall most war production plants, all sections of retail and wholesale trade, and services, etc.

Employers and employees in the national field should address their communications to the Secretary, the National War Labour Board, Ottawa, while those in the Regional category should address themselves to the Regional War Labour Board in care of their respective provincial governments.

Interpretative Rulings on the Order have been issued in bulletin form, and these may be obtained on application to any Regional War Labour Board.

British citizens, jealous of their civil and religious liberty ought to protest vigorously the Postmaster-General's unjust and indefensible treatment of a war veteran—clergyman at the behest of the Roman Catholic Church.

While itself fighting for freedom, Canada must not allow the Gestapo to deprive loyal citizens of their liberty.

POT POURRI

By Golden Glow.

I have a lot of little things to write about this week, so I give fair warning that if you don't like my "Pot Pourri" articles, just turn over the page and find something more to your taste. And first, naturally, I must speak of last week's weather, for it certainly was what we might well call a "highlight" in the news.

I expect the wonderful weather we had for Christmas made us forget the old saying "when the days begin to lengthen, then the cold begins to strengthen," and sure the weatherman didn't take long after Dec. 21, the first day of winter, the day the sun starts back on its journey north, to demonstrate that wise old saying.

A week ago Monday the thermometer fell and fell, and we piled on the coal accordingly. Then when it reached 18, and lower, the wind decided to lend a hand—and the whole town shivered.

We were wondering how the men up at Newmarket Training Camp stood the severe test. We feel safe in saying we are sure they did not enjoy it!

And that brings me to the birds! I was going to say birds and squirrels, but the squirrels vanished into "winter quarters." I haven't seen one since a week ago Saturday when I cut a slice of bread into thick squares and put it out for the birds outside the kitchen window, so I could watch them enjoy it while I did the dinner dishes. I'd seen this big plump gray squirrel frisking around, and chasing its tail in the discarded Christmas tree I'd tied to the pole that supports the clothes line in the garden, but I didn't give it a thought till all of a sudden it swooped down into the middle of the bunch of sparrows having their dinner, and scattered them like chaff. Then it started in to clean up the birds' feast, and it was so comical I just stood there and let the dishes get cold while I watched its antics.

But first I must tell you the sad part. That beautiful gray squirrel has but one eye. At first I thought it shut its eyes when I was enjoying what it ate, but I soon discovered that one eye was sightless. However, it didn't seem to bother it, and it would pick up a piece, sit bolt upright and nibble away as daintily as you please, twisting and turning the piece of bread so very quickly in its tiny paws, then for all the world like a bad boy at a Sunday school picnic, throwing away the crust and starting on a fresh piece. When it finished it ran back to the Christmas tree where I'd hung a basket with huge chunks of fat meat for the birds. I'd partly covered the basket to keep out dogs, and yes, I will confess it, to keep out the starlings too, but Mr. Squirrel would just lean over and reach a bite without going right in.

The birds became used to my baskets early on, and I have certainly enjoyed watching them. I left a place at each end so they can get in and out without feeling trapped, and the sparrows and the chick-a-dees and the downy woodpeckers and the grosbeaks have been having plenty to eat for over a month, for I keep putting fresh food into the baskets every few days. But alas! Those starlings have found they can reach their long beaks in and help themselves if they can't squeeze through the opening, and I've seen a starling just slash at a sparrow with its cruel long yellow beak to chase it away so Mr. Starling could feast in peace.

And the cardinal bird and its mate are back, or maybe they never went away. A lovely big, black cat came round here a while ago and did its best to get me to adopt it, but I can't have a cat and all my bird friends at the same time, and the birds won out, for I found a grand home for puss out in the country, and it is ever so happy there, catching field mice near the house, and lording it over the Scotty dog, the household pet, occupying the choicest seat in the living-room and sitting on the shoulder of the man of the house and singing a cozy song close to his ear. You can hear that cat purr right in the next room. So Mr. Puss found a grand home!

Do you recall me telling two winters ago about a one-legged starling that seemed to always stay round here. Well, I fed it all last winter, and lo and behold it is here again now. It looks so very pathetic, it seems to be smaller than before, and it "squats down" more than it did, but I do believe it is the very same bird!

Did you hear over the radio of the serious illness of Jack Miner, that wonderful man at Kingsville, who has the bird sanctuary. I was very glad when I heard he would recover, for men like that are needed in our sad old world.

But I was telling about the starlings, those greedy, greedy big black birds with the yellow beaks. I have a basket on the rose-trellis beside the east verandah, and I saw this starling come and scatter the sparrows that were feeding there. The one starling scared them away and fought off all the other starlings, and there it stood till it was sure it had persuaded the rest to keep off. Then it started on that suit. It would scrape off its beak on the handle of the basket, take two or three scoops of snow off the cover on the basket with its beak and go at it again. When it had plenty it allowed starling No. 2 to have a turn, and No. 2 went through the same procedure, and so on down the long line. The lilac tree opposite the verandah was fairly alive with them.

Well, here's the end of page three, and I haven't begun to tell all I started out to say, so Pot Pourri really is only about birds and the gray squirrel. Well, there's another week coming, so I won't write more now, only one last word about the weather. We are having two grand days. This is Wednesday, and it is lovely weather, mild and sunny, and yesterday too was sunny, though not so very mild, and the stars last night were magnificent.

Thanks again,

Dear Sirs:—
I wish I had more time in which to thank you for your thoughtfulness of me. Unfortunately time is short, so please take this short note as a token of my sincere appreciation.
Lorne McCordick.

Dear Sirs:—
Received tobacco O.K. Thanks very much. Hoping you all are in the best of health. We appreciate your kindness very much.
Thank you,

Newmarket Veterans
Dear Sirs:—
Received smokes O.K. Thank you very much. Best of luck to all.
Cpl. T. H. Smith.

Thanks for the cigs. I hope you all have a Merry Xmas and Happy New Year.
Bill Raymond.

Dear Comrades:—
I have just received your parcel and cigarettes which were in A-1 condition. The butter is grand, as you know we do not get butter in the army, and the civilians in England can only get two ounces a week. All the things you sent are rationed over here, so you see how much they are appreciated when we get them, and the cigarettes just came in time. I was right out of them, so I thank you and the people of Newmarket for their generosity for sending us these parcels and cigarettes, and I wish you all a very happy Christmas and a very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

We are still on the coast, which is the first line of defence, and from our billet we can see the English Channel.

We are getting lots of rain now, and all the fields are like lakes. I am getting along fine and in the best of health. Once again thanking you all. I remain,
Yours,
C. E. Renssion.

Etoibicoke Indians handed Aurora the first defeat of the Junior C season as they battled from behind for a 6-5 overtime win at Ravina Gardens Monday night.

The victory was the third in a row for the Etoibicoke and puts them on top in the standings with three wins against one defeat.

ST. PAUL'S LADIES THANKED BY SOLDIERS

months, that is, over London. They still have the odd raid over the east and south coasts, but they never do much damage.

I'll be going on leave on or about the 19th of December. I have been assured a grand time by some very kind people whom I've met. The only bad point about it is that I'll have to return on the 25th, but that's life in the army.

Now I want to wish all you kind ladies and women of the Auxiliary the very best happiness for a Merry Xmas and a Prosperous New Year. I hope we can be back home for next Xmas, so if you will be so kind as to say a little prayer for us over here, I know that the Lord will surely see that they are answered soon, but till then we have got a hard fight ahead of us, and just knowing that you are doing your bit over there, we surely can't lose—we mustn't.

Best of happiness to all,
Cpl. Myers.

December, 1941.

Dear Mrs. Evans:
I'm afraid we didn't wait till Christmas before opening the parcel you so kindly sent on behalf of the church. It must have been one of those days when an unopened parcel made a special appeal. Anyway, it was most welcome and appreciated; thanks to all who helped make the box.

Things are much the same with us for the present time. The weather is not very dry, but then the wet stage at its worst ought to be over before long, with, maybe, a bit of snow for Christmas. We hope!

It's a pretty nice fight the Russians have put up, I can't help but feel, without too much reason possibly, that the Axis crowd are on the run in spite of Japan's entry and the damage she has done and will do before she peters out. The States and Canada will now really get down to brass tacks no doubt in turning out equipment or rather, war supplies. Already it seems she (Canada) is turning out huge amounts of stuff and not all in mail bags either!

I trust you are all keeping well. I have not yet run across Fred, but who knows. Give my regards to Arthur, and with many thanks again for the parcel to those who sent it.

Yours sincerely,
John Lister.

c/o Mrs. Norman MacLeod,
Pres. St. Paul's W.A. Ladies.

Please accept my deepest thanks and appreciation for the lovely Xmas box that I received to-day from you. It is a kind thought indeed, and I can readily assure you that all the gifts will be well taken care of.

Such things are certainly more than just luxuries to us and although I don't believe we will be lucky enough to have any Christmas leave this year, your parcel will help a great deal in overshadowing that.

I count myself very fortunate in having such wonderful church workers to go to so much trouble for me, and believe me it will not be forgotten.

I wish you the best of luck in your wonderful work and a Merry Xmas to you all. Hope you won't have to send parcels overseas when next Christmas rolls around. Thanks again to one and all.

Best Wishes,
Fred Evans.

Mrs. Norman MacLeod,
Pres. St. Paul's W.A.

Dear Mrs. MacLeod:
Now that the busy time of Christmas is over and we are all back to our various tasks and straightened away again, I thought it a good time to drop a line of appreciation to our ladies on their sending the boys in service each a Christmas box which, I am sure, in every case was indeed welcome.

As I opened my parcel at Christmas time some of the boys were nearby and they gathered around, with interest when they saw how nicely it was wrapped. Then, instead of one parcel, there were about half a dozen spread out on the table. That was great! Then we started guessing what gift would be in each individual parcel. That was lots of fun. Each present was just what a fellow likes when in camp; so wishing the W.A. of St. Paul's continued success and a happier year yet to come, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
Stan. Evans.

Thanking you for parcel received.

WILLIAM WILMOT ABSOLVED BY AURORA CORONER'S JURY

Inquest Held Concerning the Death of Toronto Ski Club Watchman

Inquiring into the death of Henry Burgess, 55, night watchman at the Toronto Ski Club, a coroner's jury Tuesday night attached no blame to William Wilmot, driver of a car involved. Burgess was in collision with the automobile while crossing Yonge St. to get his mail at Oakridge post-office, Christmas Eve.

Evidence submitted was that the deceased carried no light. "There is no law compelling pedestrians to carry a light, which is unfortunate," declared Traffic Officer Howard Jackman, Richmond Hill.

Traffic Officer Alex. Ferguson of Aurora described traffic conditions as "bad."

"I did not see Burgess until he was directly in front of me," Wilmot testified. "He came from nowhere. I veered to the left and struck him with my left fender. I stopped my car and ran back toward the man. I saw him on his hands and knees trying to rise, when another car struck him and ran over him. It did not stop, but went on. The driver would have no chance to see him but would have known he hit him. It was terrible to watch. He died soon afterwards."

"This inquest is peculiar, because the only eye-witness is the driver of the car which struck the deceased. The evidence is consistent with a car from behind Wilmot's passing over the body. Weather conditions that night were bad," said Coroner Dr. C. T. Devins.

MIDLAND AT SUTTON FRIDAY NIGHT

Sutton Greenshirts will be after the hides of the Midland squad tomorrow night when that northern town journey to the Lake Simcoe village.

Jack Crozier's boys have suffered two defeats the past week at the hands of the strong Collingwood ship-builders, and will be out to show the fans that when at full strength they are the club to beat. It should be a tidy struggle tomorrow night.

VETERANS' CHILDREN ENJOY ANNUAL PARTY

Entertainment Is Special Feature

The annual entertainment given to the Veterans' Children and to the taggers for the Poppy Fund took place on Friday evening last in the Town Hall and was one of the best shows put on in years by the Newmarket Veterans' Association.

About two hundred and fifty children and their mothers were admitted by ticket and it was a very happy crowd that was greeted by President Alf. Smith when he appeared on the stage with vice president Bill White to open the program.

All present stood at attention for the customary silence for the fallen comrades. Then Comrade White had young and old joining in singing patriotic songs so heartily that they rocked the hall.

Pipe Major McCarroll of the Newmarket Training Camp then rendered some fine selections on the bagpipes which were all applauded, after which the audience were favoured by a solo by Ronnie Eves, who has a splendid voice, and a cowboy song with guitar accompaniment by Earl Bales.

At intervals candy was handed around to the children, which was kindly donated by Alderman Frank Bowser. In the meantime the main feature of the evening had been in preparation and the performer was now ready to do his stunt. The curtains were lowered to prepare the stage, and when lifted a scene of mystery was presented by the different articles scattered about the stage. Comrade White then introduced Pte. Lancaster, a magician of merit of the Newmarket Camp, who kept both young and old holding their breath with wonderment at the mysterious and clever tricks he did with the different gadgets with which he was equipped for about forty-five minutes.

Refreshments were then served and were enjoyed heartily by all. The singing of the National Anthem brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

ATTENTION! THE SURPRISE BASKET

The "Surprise" Basket will be at your house soon. It will contain an article for use in your house, probably groceries. Will you please put 25c in the basket with something you wish to give away, and keep the parcel the basket contained. The basket will pass from house to house. The funds are for the Catholic Women's League War Work.

AGE TREND IN U.S.

In the last decade the number of persons in the United States under 10 years of age slid from 24,000,000 to 21,000,000. And in the same 10 years the number of those exceeding 50 years of age jumped from 21,000,000 to 26,000,000.

SCRAP PICK-UP VERY SUCCESSFUL

The Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs wish to thank the people of Main Street, and on the west side of town for their generous support during the scrap drive of last Saturday. It has been just a little over a month since the scrap was last picked up, and once again tons of waste was gathered.

This undertaking is so big that both sides of town cannot be picked up on one Saturday afternoon. The odd person of the town sometimes is a little put out if their papers are passed up. Just please be patient, and notify anyone of the leaders, and they will see to it that they can pick them up on a Tuesday or Friday of the weekly calls.

No one but the boys themselves know what a job this is, and what a great deal of time is spent on it. These boys that give up their skating, skiing and hockey deserve a great deal of credit. Of course, it is war work and these boys well know it. Everytime scrap metal is thrown on the pile, the boys will exclaim, "Well there's more shells to blow the 'Huns' off the map."

The boys, too, get a great deal of enjoyment out of the work and also many a good laugh, so that the work is made easier and time goes faster.

Nothing has been said of the young Cubs. These are boys from some eight, but chiefly from nine to 12 years of age. Last Saturday was a fair example of what they are made of. These boys were up and out on their job of calling on the homes at 8:30 in the morning. Some may say that it is cruel to send those boys out at that hour, and at 14 below zero, for that's exactly what it was. Well, you just try and stop those boys. They have got what it takes.

When those boys were approached and asked if they wanted to call it off, one Cub speaks up and says, "We can't call it off, the war is still going on." That was a boy of nine years of age. Its too bad that older boys of the town don't realize there's a war on and try to do their bit. Yes, and the grown-ups can take a lesson from that too.

It was still below zero when the leaders, some scouts and cubs, went out with the trucks in the afternoon. Mr. Spear went ahead of the town truck with boys, bagging and piling the papers at each corner. At three o'clock everyone gathered at Mr. Spear's home, where Mrs. Spear had hot coca and biscuits for the boys. No military camp could have devalued that food any faster than those hungry cubs and scouts.

Mr. Spear is the backbone of this scrap pick-up. He does end less work on it, even to acting as referee, during some paper fights in the warehouse. The boys still haven't forgotten when he arrived in camp at four o'clock one morning from town during a regular cyclone at Island Grove.

Mr. Ross Howlett is always anxious and ready to help the boys whenever he can. The cubs and scouts wish to thank him for the use of his truck last Saturday. The town council is always behind the boys. They gave the scouts and cubs the use of the council chambers when the organization first started. The town truck is used all the time on the scrap pick-ups. John Stickland, the town driver, not only capably drives the truck, but works right with the boys until the last bit of scrap is picked up.

On Saturday, January 24, the pick-up will be on the east side of town. That's one week from this Saturday.

AURORA DISPOSE OF MILTON 12-3

In a one-sided contest, Charlie Rowntree's Aurora squad disposed of the Milton Bricklayers Friday night 12-3. Merv. Broughton and Myles McInnis, local lads on the Aurora team, played a prominent part in the victory.

FRIDAY & SATURDAY, JAN. 16-17
"Tillie the Toiler" and "Outlaw of Panhandle"

Forty million "funnies" fun can't be wrong. And, if Hollywood reports are to be credited, those forty million fans aren't wrong—"Tillie the Toiler" is a honey if there ever was one!

In the film, which opens Friday at the Strand Theatre and based upon Russ Westover's popular cartoon strip, "Tillie the Toiler" is the delightful heroine of one of the most enjoyable photoplays of the year, a down-to-earth story of human beings and, especially of a lovable young woman whose major interests in life naturally include dates and clothes. "Tillie" is an appealing young stenographer, interested as much in her job as she is in dresses or boys. She's fun to watch, fun to be with, fun to know.

On the same program, Charles Starrett's latest thriller promises to be the best yet. The Pioneers again supply tune-filled range ballads in support of the star.

MONDAY & TUESDAY, JAN. 19-20

"It Started With Eve" and "Ellery Queen and the Murder Ring"

A completely new treatment of songs on the screen will be heard in Deanna Durbin's new Universal film, "It Started With Eve," co-starring Charles Laughton and coming Monday and Tuesday to the Strand Theatre.

To introduce Miss Durbin's song numbers naturally, Director Henry Kostar has done away with orchestral accompaniment for the star's five selections.

Plays Own Accompaniment

Deanna sings and plays her own piano accompaniment, and the custom of bringing in an orchestral background whether or not an orchestra appears on the screen has been discarded.

Deanna's new role is that of an ambitious young singer who is introduced into the home of a New York multi-millionaire, and who remains in the hope that he can further her musical career. She also becomes romantically involved with his son, played by Robert Cummings.

Featured players include Margaret Tallichet, Guy Kibbee, Walter Catlett, Catharine Doucet and Charles Coleman.

Ralph Bellamy and Margaret Lindsay, the Crime fighting pair who have contributed so immensely to the popular success of the ELLERY QUEEN 42 series, return in a suspenseful story of a homicide-haunted hospital.

WED. & THURS., JAN. 21-22

"Citizen Kane"

was voted THE BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR by the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures.

Hailed as one of the most unusual pictures in many years, Orson Welles' initial screen offering "Citizen Kane," makes its debut here Wednesday and Thursday as a real innovation in the field of film entertainment.

The story is told in a brand-new manner. Basically, it deals with the colorful career of a man who becomes famous as the head of a vast commercial empire; a man who was born in poverty in the Colorado mountains, and who ends his days in lonely splendor in his fantastic, half-finished castle on the Florida coast after watching his empire crumble beneath him.

During his fifty years of power the hero of "Citizen Kane" marries twice, sees both wives divorce him because they can no longer endure living with him. With a great gift for friendship, nevertheless he alienates all his friends.

"Charlie Chan in Rio" added 2nd hit, added in place of "Gallant Sons."

Mr. Bastedo has kindly consented to speak at the next meeting of the Women's Institute which will be held at the home of Mrs. James Hope on the afternoon of Wednesday, January 21. The meeting is under the sponsorship of Mrs. Ewart, who heads the group whose purpose is education, and in this subject, Mr. Bastedo will speak. The roll call will be "Name a Book and the Author which you have read in the past year. Current events will be given by Mrs. L. Rose and the music is in charge of Mrs. J. Hope. All ladies will come provided with needles and thimbles, and as many as can with the quilt blocks 18 ins. by 18 ins., which they were asked to make up, using a foundation of flannel, flannelette or any substantial material, and in this crazy quilt fashion sewing smaller pieces. It is hoped there will be a goodly number present. I was asked to include the following item:

An interesting programme has been planned by members of Pine Orchard Community Club under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Reid for the meeting on Friday, January 16, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lundy.

The crokinole party under the auspices of the Bogartown Community Club held last Friday evening, was a very pleasant social event, well attended and well enjoyed.

A social evening and good program will make the evening of January 23 a pleasant one. On that occasion Bogartown Community Club will entertain Pine Orchard Club with the visitors providing the program.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Harper announce the engagement of their daughter, Gladys Emma Margaret to Albert Arthur Ridley, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ridley, the marriage to take place quietly the latter part of January.

Things

"Puddings"

These past days, when winds are howling, and one feels inclined towards growling at the fuel we have to feed stoves that monsters are, of greed. Fill them till they almost burst, then the one you fill the first gapes at you with empty jaw, an insatiable maw. Appetites in days like these, need more food to them appease; puddings more substantial make, surely they're not hard to take.

There is one I like full well, and of it, I'm going to tell. Ginger pudding was its name, but when threat of war, there came, we had to change that pudding's name, for preserved ginger we never found, though we covered lots of ground. But back to pudding let us turn—it really is not one to spurn.

Of shortening—one half cup, but small, brown sugar, three quarters cup, that's all; one half molasses dark, one small teaspoon soda, park, in a little boiling water, beat two eggs then, with a beater; one half cup of sour milk add, but if it's not to be had, use sweet milk and baking powder, you will find it quite in order. Add two cups of flour, well sifted, and with raisins, if you're gifted, add a half cup of the same, or some peel will change its name. Steam it for about two hours, compliments will come in showers. For a sauce with it to eat, here is one that can't be beat. A half cup light brown sugar place, in a saucepan for a base, blend with two teaspoons of flour, till its just a light brown shower.

Add then, one teaspoon of butter and a very little water. Mix it well, then in you pour half a cup, or maybe more of cold water or of milk, mix it till its smooth as silk, bring it to the table—see, it makes a tasty dish, just the sort that you would wish, for these windy, dreary days, when sky and earth are shades of greys. I think that I forgot to tell, that quantity will serve eight, well.

TOTAL WAR NOW!

The Parliament of Canada meets on January 21st. The most momentous session in Canadian history begins in a few short days. It is your Parliament. The members are the servants of the people, not of any party. They represent every one in the constituency which elected them. Each one of them needs your help as never before. Assert your democratic right to govern. Tell your member what you think should be done and do so without delay.

There is one issue which overshadows all others. The Prime Minister of Canada has told us what that issue is. These are his own words: "There is only one way to meet total war, and that is by total effort."—"We must maintain the Canadian army at full fighting strength." The Leader of British democracy told the people of Canada what total effort means. These were Winston Churchill's words: "In this strange, terrible world war there is a place for every one, man and woman, old and young, hale and halt. Service in a thousand forms is open. There is no room for the dilettante, for the weakling, for the shirker or the sluggard. The mine, the factory, the dockyard, the salt sea waves, the fields to till, the home, the hospital, the chair of the scientist, the pulpit of the preacher—from the highest to the humblest, the tasks are all of equal honor. All have their part to play."

To fulfil that description of total effort is the first and foremost duty of the Parliament of Canada. The people of Canada must be told what part they are to play. They cannot guess. Every man and woman, strong or weak, old or young, must be guided by the Government to the post where they can contribute most to victory. We are conscious of the substantial efforts made throughout the war by the Canadian Government. We are anxious to assist them in making the vital decisions forced upon them by the events of the past few weeks. We do not believe that the people of Canada consider that their Government or its leader are in any way bound by undertakings given before the United States entered the war. This is no time for a referendum. The responsibility rests squarely on Parliament. The war will not wait.

There is only one way to meet total war—by total effort—that is to mobilize all our manpower and material resources under a plan of universal compulsory selective service. Those who can serve best on the farms must work on the farms. Those who can serve best in the factories must work in the factories. And those best fitted to serve in the armed forces must be trained, equipped, and available for service in Canada or overseas anywhere at any time. That is the only way that our farms, our factories and our armed forces can wage total war. No half measures are consistent with national honor.

If you agree with that opinion then it is your duty to tell your member NOW that you want him to insist upon the immediate adoption of such a plan. Tell him that you want the business of government brought into Parliament where it belongs. Tell him to inform Parliament, and through Parliament the whole of Canada, that the people of his riding advocate and will support any measures, however drastic, which will assure the last ounce of effort of which they are capable. To Canada's Parliament, which meets in a few short days, Mr. Winston Churchill said this: "The enemy has asked for total war. Let us be sure that he gets it." Tell your member in the short time which still remains that you want to be sure that we do wage total war and that you want him to say so in your behalf on the floor of Parliament.

There is an added reason why you must act immediately if you believe that democracy is government by the people. Last week, President Roosevelt told one hundred and thirty million people of the United States where their armed forces are going to fight in this war. "As our power and resources are fully mobilized, we shall carry the attack against the enemy—we shall hit him and hit him again, wherever and whenever we can reach him." We are partners with the United States in this struggle. We signed a pact binding us to a common effort. National honor and the safety of our people demand that every man who wears the uniform of Canada be ready at all times to go overseas to hit the enemy wherever and whenever he can be reached. What a shameful travesty of justice it would be if we approved of unity of military command and failed to establish unity of sacrifice between nations. Canada's honor is at stake.

The Committee for Total War urges you to act without delay. Send your member a telegram, a letter or a postcard at once. This is your most important task. Your member represents you no matter what your party may be. He is your voice in Parliament. When you put down this newspaper, act at once. If you agree with the opinion supported by this Committee, say so.

"What were his last words?"
"He didn't have any. He was a man of culture and died trying to think how he'd put it."

A Scotsman bought two tickets for a golden ballot in which the first and only prize was a $500 car. When the draw was made, the Scot won the car.

His friends rushed to his house to congratulate him. They found him with a long face and evidently dissatisfied.

"Why, what's the matter?" they inquired.

"Well," answered the new owner of the car, "it's that second ticket that's troubling me. Why I ever bought it I can't think."

OUR DEMOCRATIC INHERITANCE

The following interesting and enlightening discourse was given by Rev. Arthur Greer of the Congregational Church at the United Church during the "Week of Prayer."

What is democracy, anyway? It is an indescribable, intangible something we are chasing like a soap bubble without actually knowing why?

Could you tell of its origin? Could you enumerate its principles?

Could you describe its basis or foundation?

It is important that every British and American subject, and every man, woman and child in any democratic country should know these things.

If we do NOT understand democracy, we should look into it very thoroughly, for in this our day, fine, promising, budding manhood is pouring out its life-blood to defend it. And he who fights for a Cause he does not understand is neither fighting intelligently, nor giving his best. It is only when a man is gripped in his very soul of the RIGHTNESS of a Cause, that he fights to the last ounce of his strength and will-power to defend or promote it.

In a brief, terse manner, covering but a few short paragraphs, let me give you the pith and kernel of democracy.

In the first place, would you believe that democracy had its human, historic springs in the northern portions of that very land which is at present using all its might and genius to destroy it?

It was in the Germanic Province of Schleswig, the home of the ENGLES, and on the shores of the river ELBE down near its mouth, which was the home of the SAXONS, that our British democracy had its inauspicious beginnings.

Those people were TEUTONIC, and far enough removed from Roman autocratic influence to strive for a suitable and satisfactory form of government all their own. This they did, and there the local councils, with representatives of the people, had their start.

The invasion of Britain by these ENGLES & SAXONS in 449 A.D. is history which surely needs no repeating here. You recall from your school books, that the Celtic tribes were slaughtered, or pushed back as remnants into Scotland, Wales and Ireland. A new ENGLAND was founded. These races, who had known "Government of the people, for the people and by the people" were established in Britain, and democracy has always had a light there from that time, although at times that light burned so low, that it almost flickered out.

In the Celtic races of Britain, there was also a distinct democratic strain, which had its beginnings in the Annals and influence of early Greek democracy.

Celtic life blossomed in far Eastern Europe, moved steadily westward long before the day of Roman domination, settled largely in Gaul, but overflowed also into Britain; and the only trace that our present day language retains of them is the "Gaelic" for they were the Gaels. However, Rome over-ran Britain as Germany has lately overrun so many small countries, and the seed of Celtic democracy lay dormant for four centuries.

To afflict you with a resume of history, even with a view to tracing the budding and blossoming of the democratic flower, would be a lengthy task, and an unnecessary one. But from the sources I have described, this idea, or IDEAL of self-government, sometimes referred to as the "Anglo-Saxon impulse" continued to command itself all through the years.

Despotic Plantagenets, Autocratic Stuarts and luxury-loving Hanoverian kings did all in their power to crush it. At times, it looked as if they came dangerously near success.

But they did not succeed. They COULD NOT succeed! Here are the reasons:—

LIBERTY—the right to "choose, and exercise your own will, is the fundamental desire of every normal human being.

LIBERTY—of mind and spirit and action, is absolutely essential to moral character, for pawns in the hand of the despot have not enough choice or freedom to be wilfully moral or immoral.

Thirdly—LIBERTY is the right of a free people to govern themselves—AND SUCH GOVERNMENT IS DEMOCRACY.

Let the King Charles', the Georges and the ruthless Johns' try to kill such a lively germ as this fundamental principle. Let them! They may hurry it in the ground, but Cromwells, Washingtons, Patrick Henrys, Pitts, Peels, Lincolns, Roosevelts and Churchills will see that the seed is watered, and allowed to grow and flourish.

Men will sum up our way of living in a terse phrase like that of Patrick Henry's—

"Give me liberty or give me death," and the hearts of democratic people will suddenly grasp the meaning of democracy; it will turn will grip them, and for its preservation, they will fight to the death or to the victory.

Democracy is freedom. Actually, it had its roots in the spoken Word and Will of God, as He gave men active minds and the right and power to choose between good and evil. Therefore, he who champions the way of democracy or freedom, champions the way of God. And he who opposes it, opposes God.
